Merlin Technology are specialist providers of advanced security products designed to protect you, your family and your home.

The search for security is one of the human beings prime motivating forces. Ever since our pre-historic ancestors sought security in caves, humans have striven to protect themselves, their loved ones and their belongings.

In today's world, this need for security is still paramount.

We do not feel the need to use scare tactics by quoting current crime statistics - you are no doubt aware of the figures. The fact that you are reading this introduction suggests you are already looking for ways to improve your security arrangements.

The majority of security products and systems sold by Merlin Technology are wireless and suitable for simple DIY installation. Wireless systems give greater flexibility and there is no need for disruption to your existing decor.

This catalogue only includes a small sample of the security products available from Merlin Technology, so if you do not find the precise product you are looking for - please contact us on 0700 5938 717 or email sales@merlintechnology.co.uk.
